His Holiness the Great 14th Dalai Lama, was born at Taktser, a small hamlet in Amdo Province's Kumbum region on 6 July 1935 to Choekyong Tsering and Dickyi Tsering. Raised under the protection of Palden Lhamo, Lhamo Dhondub was recognized as the undisputed reincarnation of the Great 13th Dalai Lama and brought to Lhasa at the age of five to be enthroned in the Potala Palace. While undergoing his monastic studies, the Chinese government began illegally invading Tibet's Kham and Amdo regions. In 1950, the Tibetan troops stationed at Chamdo suffered defeat under the marauding Chinese army. As a result of the invasion, the Tibetan political administration, economy, and the general Tibetan society underwent a severe crisis, like an oil-exhausted lamp flickering in its last dying flame. At such a critical period in Tibet's history, His Holiness the Dalai Lama, at the tender age of sixteen, was compelled by circumstances to shoulder the spiritual and temporal leadership of Tibet.
